SUMMER 2011

Wit-tins ['witin(z)] Scottish, noun—knowledge, news, information.

We are Generations. We are Growing. We are Goretto.

Life is about changing and evolving while still embracing and learning from our past. We are excited to begin the 2011-2012 school year with the goal of more involvement from our alumni, parents, and friends of Goretto than ever before. We hope that you'll join us on this journey of making Goretto the best it can be, now and in the future! - Richard Fairley, Principal

GORETTI FORMS ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

St. Maria Goretto High School has had many talented student athletes and coaches over its 56-year history, and it was important to Goretto to find a way to honor them. In July 2011, the school announced the names of the first six individuals to be inducted into its new Athletic Hall of Fame.

Two of the first six inductees include Rodney Monroe, who won three straight Baltimore Catholic League championships during his time at the school from 1984-1987, along with his coach at the time, Cokey Robertson. Another two of the six inductees are outstanding female athletes, Jennifer Piccolomini ('99) and Susie Garrott Brown ('76). This year's Athletic Hall of Fame will also honor two deceased alumni: former student and basketball player Bill Wills ('59) and Richard "Dick" Keller (St. Mary's, '49), who actively supported the school's athletic program for many years.

The 2011-2012 inductees will be honored for their character and exceptional athletic achievements to St. Maria Goretto's athletic program. Monroe said attending Goretto and participating in sports was monumental to his growth as a person.

"Going to Goretto was a great experience. It opened my eyes to a whole different world. For me, it was more than just basketball, it was being a part of a family."

- Rodney Monroe

The Hall of Fame recipients will be officially inducted at the annual Mid-Atlantic Invitational Tournament (MAIT) hosted by Goretto this November.

OUR ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME PRESENTS...

IN THE SPOTLIGHT Q&A

In the current issue and the next two issues of the Gael Wittins, we will spotlight each of the six 2011-2012 Hall of Fame inductees. Featured in this issue are Susie Garrott Brown ('76) and Jennifer Piccolomini ('99).

How did sports at Goretti influence other areas of your life while you were at Goretti and then after high school?

Susie B. – The sports that were offered at Goretti really gave my life focus. In the early 70's, women's sports were just starting to be offered. Goretti offered girls basketball my freshman year and that happened to be my favorite sport. There were no youth leagues for girls in any sports back then, so my proficiency in basketball grew from playing pick-up games in our alley with neighborhood kids. Goretti added softball to girls' sports my sophomore year, and I played that, followed by soccer, which they added my junior year. I really thank Jim Martin for stepping up and coaching all the sports in which I competed at Goretti. He was a demanding and competitive coach and taught me the finer points of those three sports.

Jennifer P. – When I came to Goretti, the girls' basketball program was starting to take off. While we won quite a few games, we were almost always labeled as underdogs. Through this experience, I learned that if I wanted to accomplish something, I needed to work hard and keep focused on my goals. I always try to stay determined to better myself regardless of what my current position happens to be in life.

What's one of your most favorite memories of being an athlete in high school?

Susie B. – I remember with fondness our senior year in basketball. We were very good and were competitive with all the public schools. Mostly, I remember the awesome fast-break that Linda Long and I had going in many of those games. I just remember how much I loved playing with all the girls on the team and how much fun it was to go to away games and just be together laughing and enjoying the moments.

Jennifer P. – My teammates. Regardless if it was basketball or volleyball, we were a pretty tight-knit group. Having my friends as teammates and having my teammates as friends meant that we were able to share a lot of memories together.

What does it mean to you to be one of the first six people inducted into our school's Athletic Hall of Fame?

Susie B. – I am very honored to know that in Goretti's 55-plus year history that I was one of the first six athletes to be selected. Having an Athletic Hall of Fame might make a nice goal to strive to for all of Goretti's current and future student athletes. I am filled with a sense of gratitude for all my teammates, Coach Martin, the Goretti administrators and my family members who encouraged and supported me in my desire to succeed in sports. My Catholic education has shaped me the most — I am just glad a great academic and athletic program was also part of the package.

Jennifer P. – It is very humbling, and I feel extremely honored. Many great athletes have come out of Goretti and to be selected for this honor makes it that much more special.

What advice would you give to future generations of Goretti student athletes in terms of perseverance and giving it all you've got?

Susie B. – As a young person, your first priority should be to succeed in your academics. Being in a Catholic high school will also allow you to focus on your spiritual well being. When the actual participation in competitive sports is over, I hope they will reap the benefits of having learned how to work hard towards a goal and to appreciate being able to have pursued an interest that they loved and had been gifted with. To all those up-and-coming athletes, I would encourage you to stick with your sports and work as hard as possible to reach your potential.

Jennifer P. – As a former high school and collegiate athlete, there will always come a day when you no longer get to put on a uniform. I never recognized the importance of “leaving it all on the field” until after the season. I have no regrets about my athletic career, and would encourage any athlete to practice, play, and compete at the highest level. It will never hurt you to give just a little more.

Tell us a little about what you’ve been up to since your time at St. Maria Goretti High School.

Susie B. – I attended Hagerstown Junior College (HJC) for two years and played volleyball, basketball, and tennis and graduated with honors. I transferred to Frostburg State College and played the number five position in tennis and won the State title at that spot. I received my Master’s degree from West Virginia University in Professional Physical Education. I have four children and spent much of their younger years coaching them in basketball, baseball/softball, tennis and soccer. All have excelled in soccer and two are playing at the college level.

Jennifer P. – I went on to play four years of basketball and one year of volleyball at McDaniel College (formerly Western Maryland College). After graduation, I moved back home to Shepherdstown, West Virginia and took a job as a middle school Physical Education teacher in Loudoun County, Virginia. I coached Varsity Girls’ basketball at Heritage High School and Loudoun Valley High School. Last July, I was hired as an Assistant Principal at Park View High School in Sterling, Virginia, and I absolutely love my job.

Thirty members of the St. Maria Goretti Class of 1991 gathered with their families to mark their Twenty Year Reunion on the weekend of July 15-17, 2011.
